More than a Festival

Pop Up is more than just a Festival. Throughout June and July, we're working with 1000's of children, young people and families in Camden and Islington, who are reading books, meeting authors and making stories.

Why? Because we believe that the people who make books and stories can inspire us to become better readers, writers and artists. And we want to give as many children, young people and families as possible the chance to be inspired and get creative.

We'll be growing Pop Up over the coming years, and we're always on the lookout for new partners and brilliant ideas! To find out more, get in touch or get involved, go to www.pop-up.org.uk or email info@pop-up.org.uk.

Pop Up is Free!

If you love Pop Up, help us keep it free and make a donation:

Three things to do at Pop Up

1
Visit the onsite Guardian Bookshop for a huge selection of brilliant books for kids of every age. The shop will feature titles by all the authors appearing in Pop Up, and loads more besides, including great gifts and a range of exclusive offers at unbeatable prices. This is also the place to visit the Book Doctor (see programme for details) for a personal prescription on what to read next, lounge around in the comfy chill-out area, and buy your copy of the Guardian and Observer newspapers.

2
Visit our interactive Pop Up Community space. Spin the Poetry Carousel, created by Parents for Parents; admire sculptures made by children from Centre 404; enjoy the 3D dioramas from International Families; then share in oral stories inspired by the Somali Speakers Women's Group, as told by Vayu Naidu Company.

3
In a collaboration between Pop Up, House of Illustration and Central St Martin's, a team of illustrators worked with 500 local children to create works of art to decorate the Coram's Fields Festival site. See if you can spot any of their giant butterflies, mythical beasts and historical characters dotted around the site - and don't miss the unmissable giant comic book!

Pop Up is a brand new Festival celebrating all sorts of stories.

It's especially for children and families - and it's free!*

With a packed programme featuring some of the very best writers, illustrators, poets and storytellers - plus movies, magicians and musicians, puppets, characters and comedians - Pop Up has something for everyone.

So come and spend an unforgettable, story-filled summer weekend with us!
